Senior History

At last! we have attained that long desired position of Seniors, but still we hardly realize it.

Four years ago we entered W. H. S. as "Freshies," thirty-nine in number. At our first class meeting we elected Raymond Snouffer as president and Ellen Potter as secretary-treasurer. The first social event of our school life was the annual Freshman-Sophomore party, which took place on October the eighth in the High School Auditorium. We could not let the year slip by without a party of our own, so we made it a Washington's birthday party.

Our first year successfully ended, we returned to school the following September as Sophomores. We were soon organized with Fred Gabel as president, Grace Nicola as vice-president, and Elizabeth Gabel as secretary-treasurer. Then we planned, in our turn, the Freshman-Sophomore party, which was of course a brilliant success. In this year we had one of our best parties, which was held at the home of Ellen Potter on St. Patrick's day and which left with us many fond memories. We closed our second year by a picnic on the last day, and uttered a big sigh of relief for we were Juniors, think of it!

Our Junior year was one of hard work but also one of fun. For officers we elected Jack Anderson, president; Paul Insley; treasurer and Grace Nicola, vice-president. The first social event of this year was a Hallowe'en party at Potter's Cabin. After Christmas, the Girls' Glee Club of Ohio State University gave a delightful program under the auspices of our class. Later, an entire Junior cast gave the farce, "The Obstinate Family," for the entertainment of the Parent-Teachers' Association. The same cast also gave this play at the Columbus Rural Rest Home. The cast of the "Wishing Well" included ten of our members, three of them being leading characters, Paul Insley did a great part of the scene painting for "The Light," a pageant presented by Mr. Huffman. The biggest event of this year was the never-to-be forgotten Junior-Senior Banquet which was a success from every view-point. It was given at the home of Ellen Potter.

Seniors! last but not least. We now have nineteen members for graduation. The last time to elect officers as a class, we elected Jack Anderson, president; Grace Nicola, treasurer and Mary Elizabeth McKitrick, secretary.

During this year our class contributed three players to the Boys' Basketball Team, six to the Football Team, and one to the Girls' Basketball Team. One of our members, having obtained the credit requirements by the end of the first semester, left us to enter Denison University. The cast of "In the Garden of the Shah" included eleven of our members, seven of them being leading characters. We all took part in the class play, "The Man on the Box." Thus ended our four happy year at W. H. S.

We now wish to express our appreciation to our Principal and Superintendent, and all the teachers for their cooperation and assistance through these four successful years, and extend to them our heartiest wishes for the future.

Otta Wilcox.

Class Prophecy

What I saw while traveling in 1935 A. D.

I cranked up my Fierce Sparrow and sped swiftly over the ground for about three hundred feet before ascending gracefully into the air. A more beautiful day could not have been possible and a gypsy-like mood overtook me. I passed over miles and miles of picturesque country.

I had neglected to take any lunch with me and landing in a beautiful meadow I strolled to a nearby house where I smelled the aromatic odors of fried chicken. I knocked at the door and was greeted by my old classmate, Otta Wilcox, who informed me that she was now the wife of Fred Gabel, a very prosperous farmer. While I was there, Mrs. Gabel informed me that our old friend, Mary E. McKitrick, had won the distinction of being "Miss Worthington" and was at that time promenading in Atlantic City.

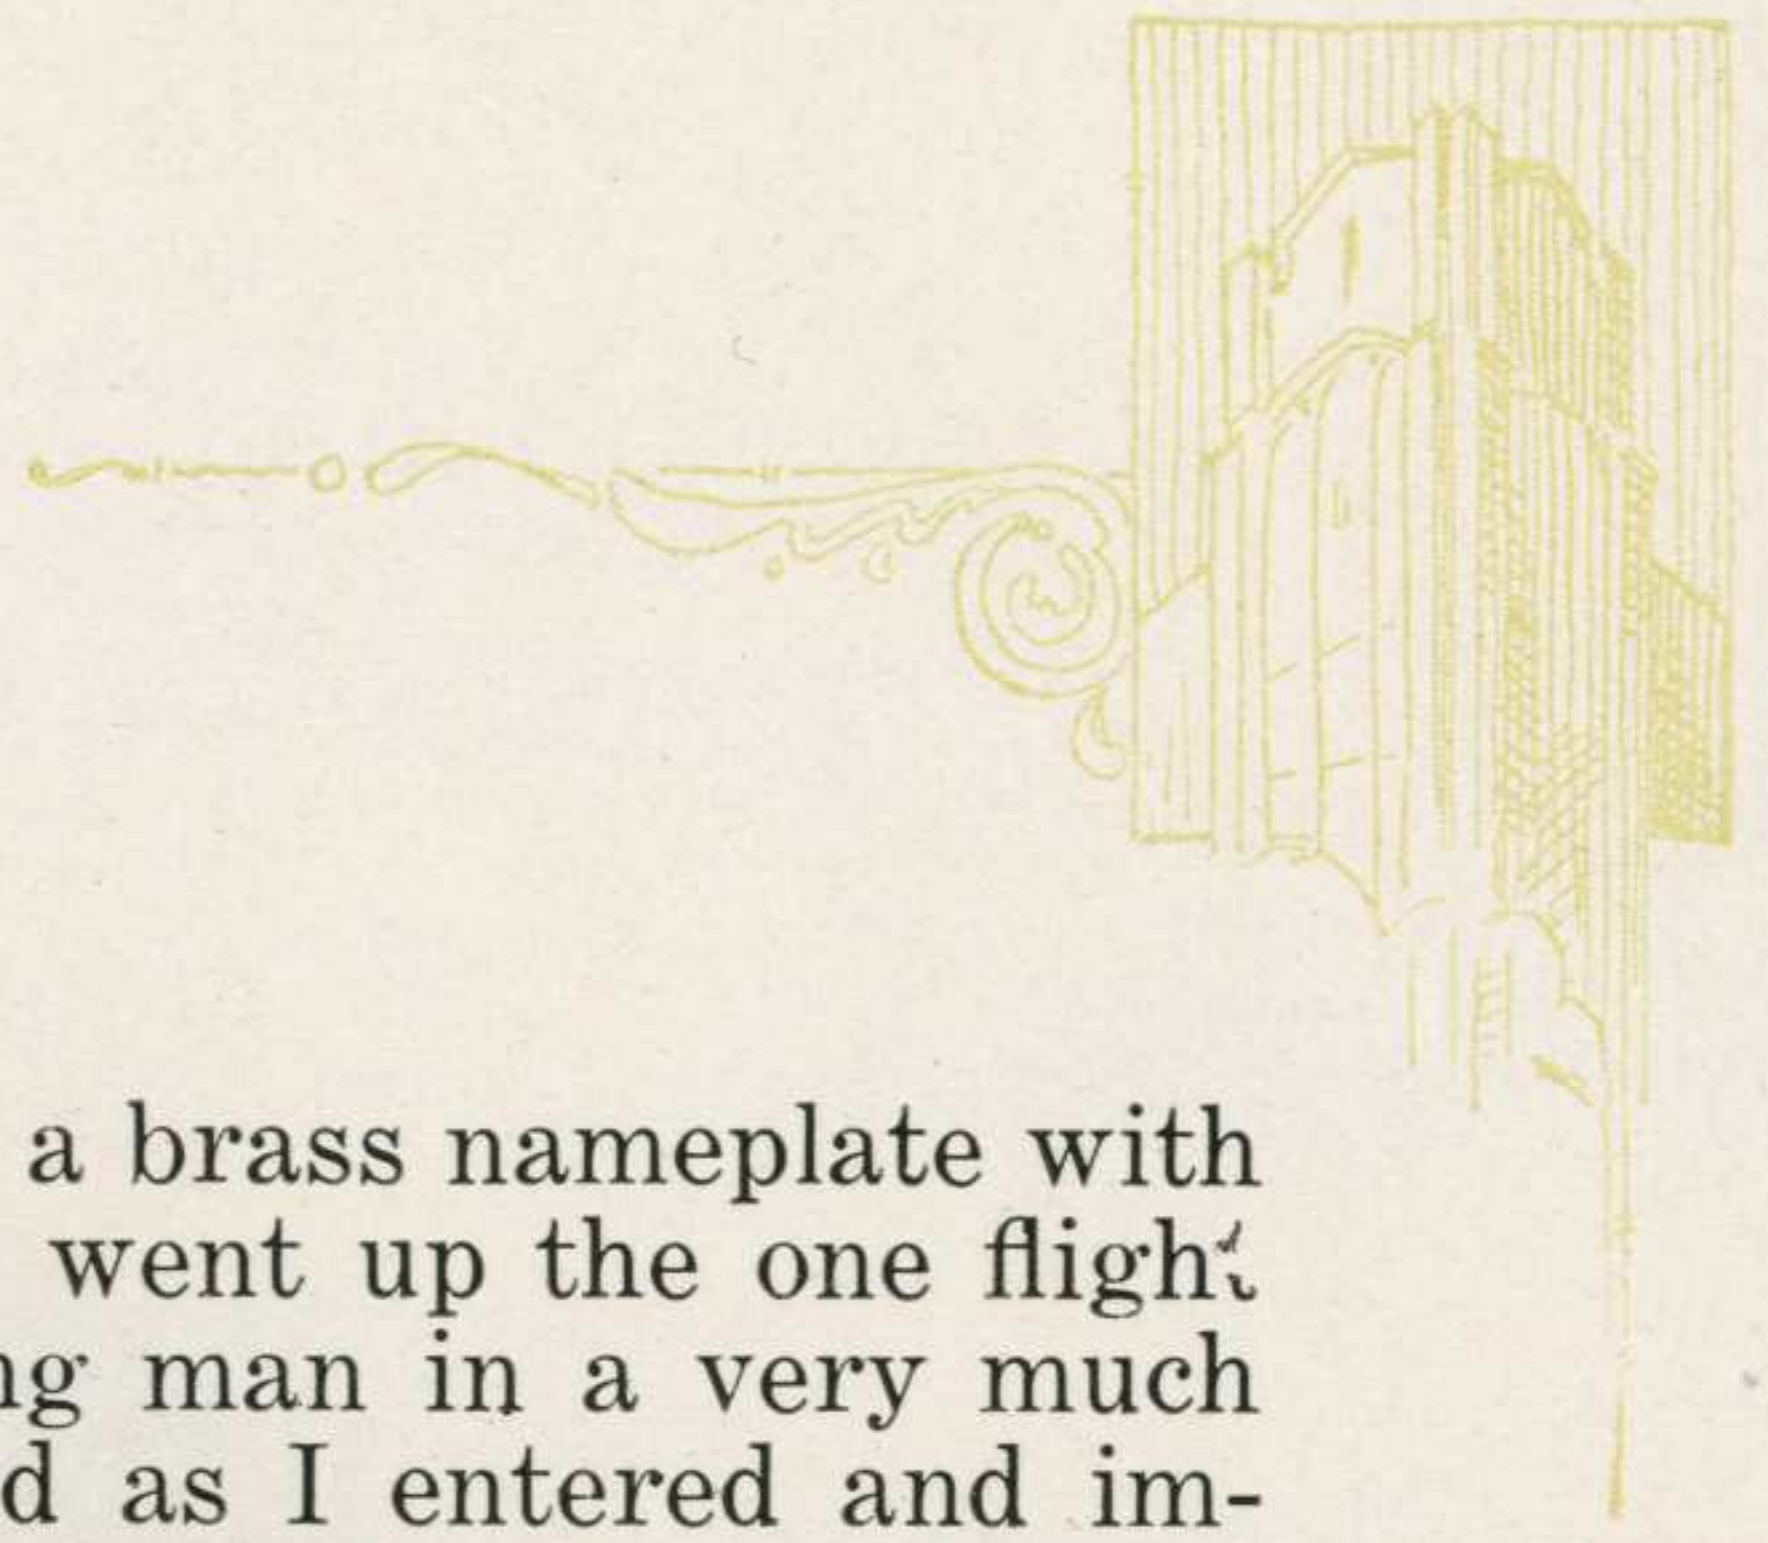

After enjoying a long chat with the Gabels I flew to Philadelphia where I put up for the night. Early the next morning just as I was about to depart, I met Lillian Spafford, now Dean of Bryn Mawr College. She told me that our friend, Eddie McCullough was a Latin teacher at Columbia University, so I immediately decided to go on to see him.

I landed on the top of a building, which had a perfect landing field. As I descended, who should I see but Eddie himself. I decided to remain with him the rest of the day and that evening he took me to Keith's where, to my surprise, who should I see but Dick Rowe, as a comedian. As I sat there listening, I thought of how disgusted Miss Wright used to get with Dick, not knowing that some day he would capitalize his mischievousness.

I was walking down Fifth Avenue when I met a strangely familiar face, but couldn't place him. He introduced himself as being Ray Snouffer, now a prominent Statesman in Washington, D. C. Ten years has made quite a great change in Ray. He has become quite heavy and looks the part of an idle rich man, which he now is. He had been in conference with a group of railroad men, conducting an investigation to decide some way in which hoboes could be kept out of box cars.

Having seen this many of my old school mates, I decided to look up Martha Schaeffer, whom I had heard was in New York. After looking through all the Children's Hospitals, I found her in one of the largest, performing a tonsil operation and who should be her head nurse, but Mary Herritt.

I spent a few days in New York and then decided to go to see the rest of the world. I stopped in London first and then went on to Paris. I landed and decided to go for a walk. My footsteps led me down the street of many arts and there to my surprise I saw a brass nameplate with the name engraved "Leonardo Insley Studios." I went up the one flight of stairs and found myself in the studio. A young man in a very much bestained smock, standing before a canvas, turned as I entered and immediately recognized me. He showed me his pictures and told me the one on which he was now working was to be sent to the Field Museum in Chicago. He begged me to stay the remainder of the day with him and that evening took me to hear our old friend, Grace Nicola, who had now become a celebrated violinist. I went behind the scenes to greet Grace and after a long reminiscence of our school days in Worthington High, she told me that Lois Smith was a chorus girl in Zeigfield Follies and was now sojourning in Italy. She also told me that Lois was preparing to marry Jack Anderson, one of Al Jolson's stars.

After making various stops, I thought I would like to see the land of my dreams, so stopped in Cuba. There was an oil station near the landing field so I decided to fill my gasoline tank. A distinguished looking man drove up in a Rolls Royce and who should it be but Howard Wilson. He came over to speak to me and in the course of conversation he told me that at the death of John D., he was bequeathed the Cuban holdings of the Standard Oil Company.

From here I intended to go home but I was forced to alight in the South Sea Islands on account of engine trouble. The natives stood around in amazement and I found to my surprise that they could understand a certain amount of English. They led me through a mass of undergrowth and beautiful palm trees to an opening in the forest. There were several white women sitting on a veranda of a long low house. One of them came toward me and greeted me with much pleasure. It only took me a moment to recognize Ellen Potter now a missionary on the Island.

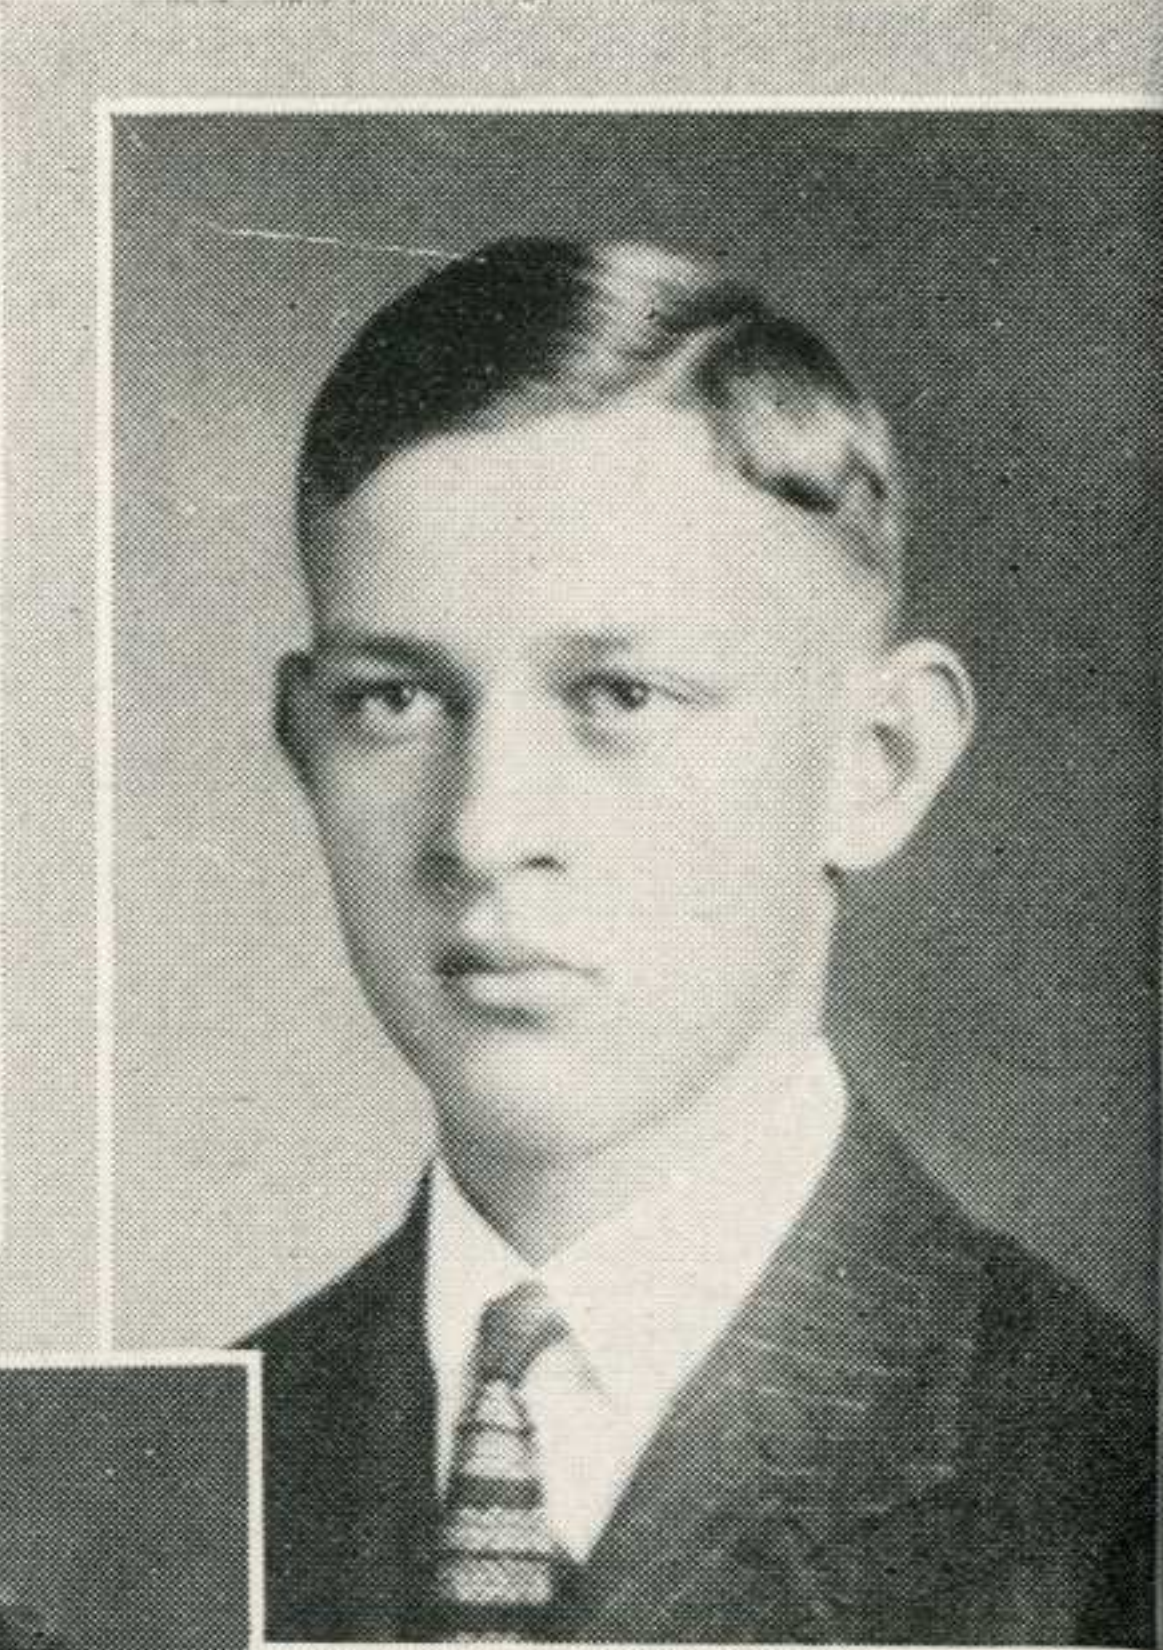

In due course, I got my engine fixed and started for home. My next stop was near Hollywood where I landed on the shore. I saw a familiar face on the beach and finally recognized Alden Hack, a famous dancing master, watching his mermaids bathe. He and his company were preparing to take the place of Mac Sennett. I watched them for a few minutes and as one little girl came up, I recognized her to be Leona Grace. I asked her what she was doing down here and she told me she was the model for bathing suits for Alden.

I started on my journey again and very much to my disgust was forced to land in Cripple Creek. Here I found most of the inhabitants gathered around what seemed to be a fight. I went over and found it was a prize fight. After watching for a little while I asked one of the bystanders who they were. He told me one was Howard Mack, the champion heavyweight. Howard struck his opponent very severely and knocked him to the floor. As he hit the floor with a crash, I woke up and found that my trip was all a dream.

Class Poem

We bid adieu to our classmates
To launch on an endless sea
But each new venture will always bring
Visions of High School to you and to me,
In some forsaken land we will stray
Exploring some unknown fate
Yet many a time our hearts will seek
The memoirs of some past date,
That on the waves of the billowy gale
Dwell lightly on Worthington High,
Again and again these things will reflect
In the clouds of the deep blue sky
Far down into depths we cannot imagine,
To heights we have yet to aspire
Our souls may be dragged and tossed, evermore
Yet we will ever return to inquire
For those of the Class of '25
Classmates and friends of our hearts desire.

Will

We, the Senior Class of '25, being of sound mind and body, at peace with all the world, do hereby will, devise, bequeath, and leave to the following and their heirs, the remnants of our departing souls as follows:

- Article I The Class of '25 leaves to the Class of '26 it's marvelous intellectual powers, renown, ability for speed, and unequaled success in all undertakings.
- Article II Paul Insley bequeaths to Joe Potter his record of punctuality.
- Article III Ellen Potter leaves her Virgil to George Wing.
- Article IV Jack Anderson leaves his big heart in the Freshman Class.
- Article V Leona Grace wills her huge stature to Virginia Hibbs.
- Article VI Howard Mack bequeaths his sheik "line" to Willis Stafford.
- Article VII Mary E. McKictrick leaves her chicness to Ortha Smith.
- Article VIII Dick Rowe and Alden Hack leave their quiet laugh to Karl Carter and Gardner Wellman.
- Article IX Martha Schaeffer wills her wit to "Red" Lashley.
- Article X Edward McCullough bequeaths his skill as debater to Mr. Rhoton.
- Article XI Grace Nicola leaves her roguish eyes to Sadie Harmon.
- Article XII Robert Buzzaird wills his fast driving record to Ralph Snouffer.
- Article XIII Raymond Snouffer leaves his patent leather hair formula to Bill Myers.
- Article XIV Lillian Spafford wills her stately ways and gracious manners to Margaret Dixon.
- Article XV Howard Willson leaves his "teacher" tendencies to Paul Hulburt.
- Article XVI Mary Herritt bequeaths her sunny disposition to Violet Coffman.
- Article XVII Fred Gabel leaves his bashfulness to Bill Dudley.
- Article XVIII Otta Wilcox wills her quietness to Charles Wilson.

A Proposition

Theorem: The Class of '26 taken as a whole, is absolutely essential to Worthington High School.

Given: The Junior class with twenty-eight wide awake, clear minded, enthusiastic students between the ages of sixteen and twenty.

To Prove: That this class is absolutely essential to the school.

Proof: The class has an unblemished history with many achievements of which to be proud.

Therefore: The class is eligible to be the best in the school.

Then:—consider its achievements in the term 1924-25. It has contributed largely to all the branches of athletics. It is a leader in the social activities of the school. It started the custom of buying class rings in the Junior year rather than in the Senior year, a custom observed in many of the best schools in the country but never before followed in ours. Its members originated the Worthington High School Scandal Sheet which will hereafter be a permanent institution in the school. It conducted a most successful carnival bringing in over one hundred dollars gate receipts. It was well represented in the school musical play, "The Garden of the Shah." It won the inter-class basketball tournament after a close game with the Seniors. And lastly, it has plans for one of the best Junior Senior banquets that has ever been given to a Senior class.

Class of '27

Though diminished in numbers we Sophomores entered school last September with plenty of pep and with a determination to exhibit the best school spirit any class has ever shown. In this we have without a doubt succeeded. We showed some of our spirit by not getting discouraged when the Juniors had had the lead in the money-raising contest for several weeks. Right at the last minute we plunged in and raised a sufficient sum, by selling old papers, to tie with them in the end.

Our class showed up a great deal more in athletics this year than it did last year, we were represented on the football squad by several boys including Red Henry and Nic Corbin. What would the team have done without them? Three of our girls made the school basketball team and likewise one boy did. The Sophomores had a fine boy's team of which Red Henry was the captain.

We furnished five members for the orchestra and quite a number to both Glee Clubs. So you see we also did our part in this activity.

The Freshman-Sophomore party marked our first step in the social affairs this year and it was a great success. This party was given on October eleventh at the Auditorium. After the games were played refreshments consisting of pie, doughnuts, and cider were served.

On Valentine Day we had a party at the Town Hall. Games furnished the entire program. There was a great abundance of ice cream and cake and everybody enjoyed the refreshments. Miss Moore was our chaperone.

As a whole we have had a very successful year, indeed, and we hope to keep up our good work next year.

Class of '28

No one ever seems to realize what it is to be a freshman until he is one! We entered High School with a feeling so strange that it cannot be expressed. We expected a great initiation on the part of the Sophomores but only a little was done to the boys. As we huddled in little groups in the Study Hall and watched the learned Sophomores and upper classmen go about so easily and unconsciously, we sighed to think how tortured a time was before us till we, also, would go about as they did.

We were really introduced socially into the High School at the Freshman-Sophomore party in the last of October, held in the High School auditorium. Here the Sophomores showed their talent for parties. We almost forgot we were Freshmen. We held our first class meeting in September, electing Anson Bond, president; George Moore, vice-president and Margaret Dixon, secretary-treasurer.

We are well represented in athletics and school music. Several girls are on the Basketball team. Kenneth Chapin promises to be a fine player. Our own Freshman team shows fine opportunities to become a star team. In band and orchestra, we are not left behind, for we contribute a good many for both.

We may be small now but we do not mean to let many opportunities slip by, so it would be well to watch us grow.

Orchestra

Director—Mrs. Tway

Piano—Lois Smith. Brass—Joe Potter, Ruth Harding; Ella Boyer, William Dudley; William Myers; Walter Compton, Willis Stafford; George Wing. Violins—Sadie Harmon, Ellen Gloyd, Mildred Keys, Gardner Wellman, Grace Nicola, Ortha Smith, Charles Wilson, Charles Cummins, Mary Cotter.

With Mrs. Tway to lead and encourage it, the Orchestra has had an especially good and busy year. It started out by playing on a Thanksgiving program at Linworth. Next it played on a program given to benefit the High School Band. February twelfth it played for the Father and Son Banquet given by the Agricultural department. It furnished music for several plays including the Seventh and Eighth grade play—"Windmills of Holland"; the American Legion play—"Come Out of the Kitchen"; the Glee Clubs' play—"In the Garden of the Shah" and the Senior Class play—"The Man on the Box." In May the Orchestra broadcasted for the first time and to finish the year's work it furnished some special music for Commencement at Plumwood and at Worthington.

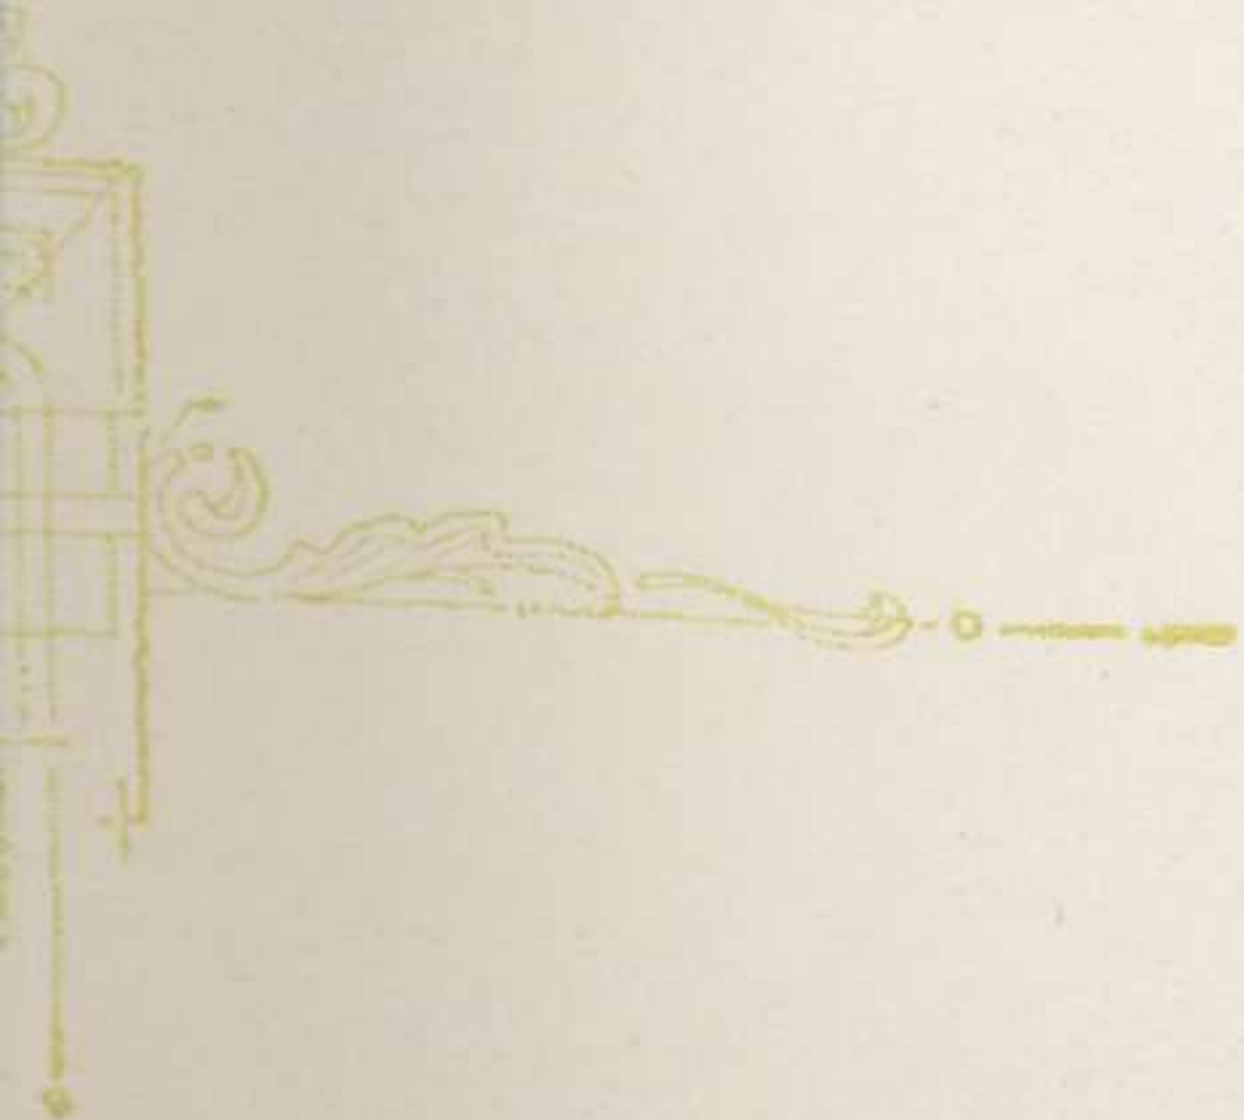

The number of engagements and increase in membership are both proofs of interest taken in the Orchestra. The Orchestra as a whole wishes to thank Mrs. Tway for her interest in it and hopes that next year it may grow and improve under her leadership as materially as it has this year.

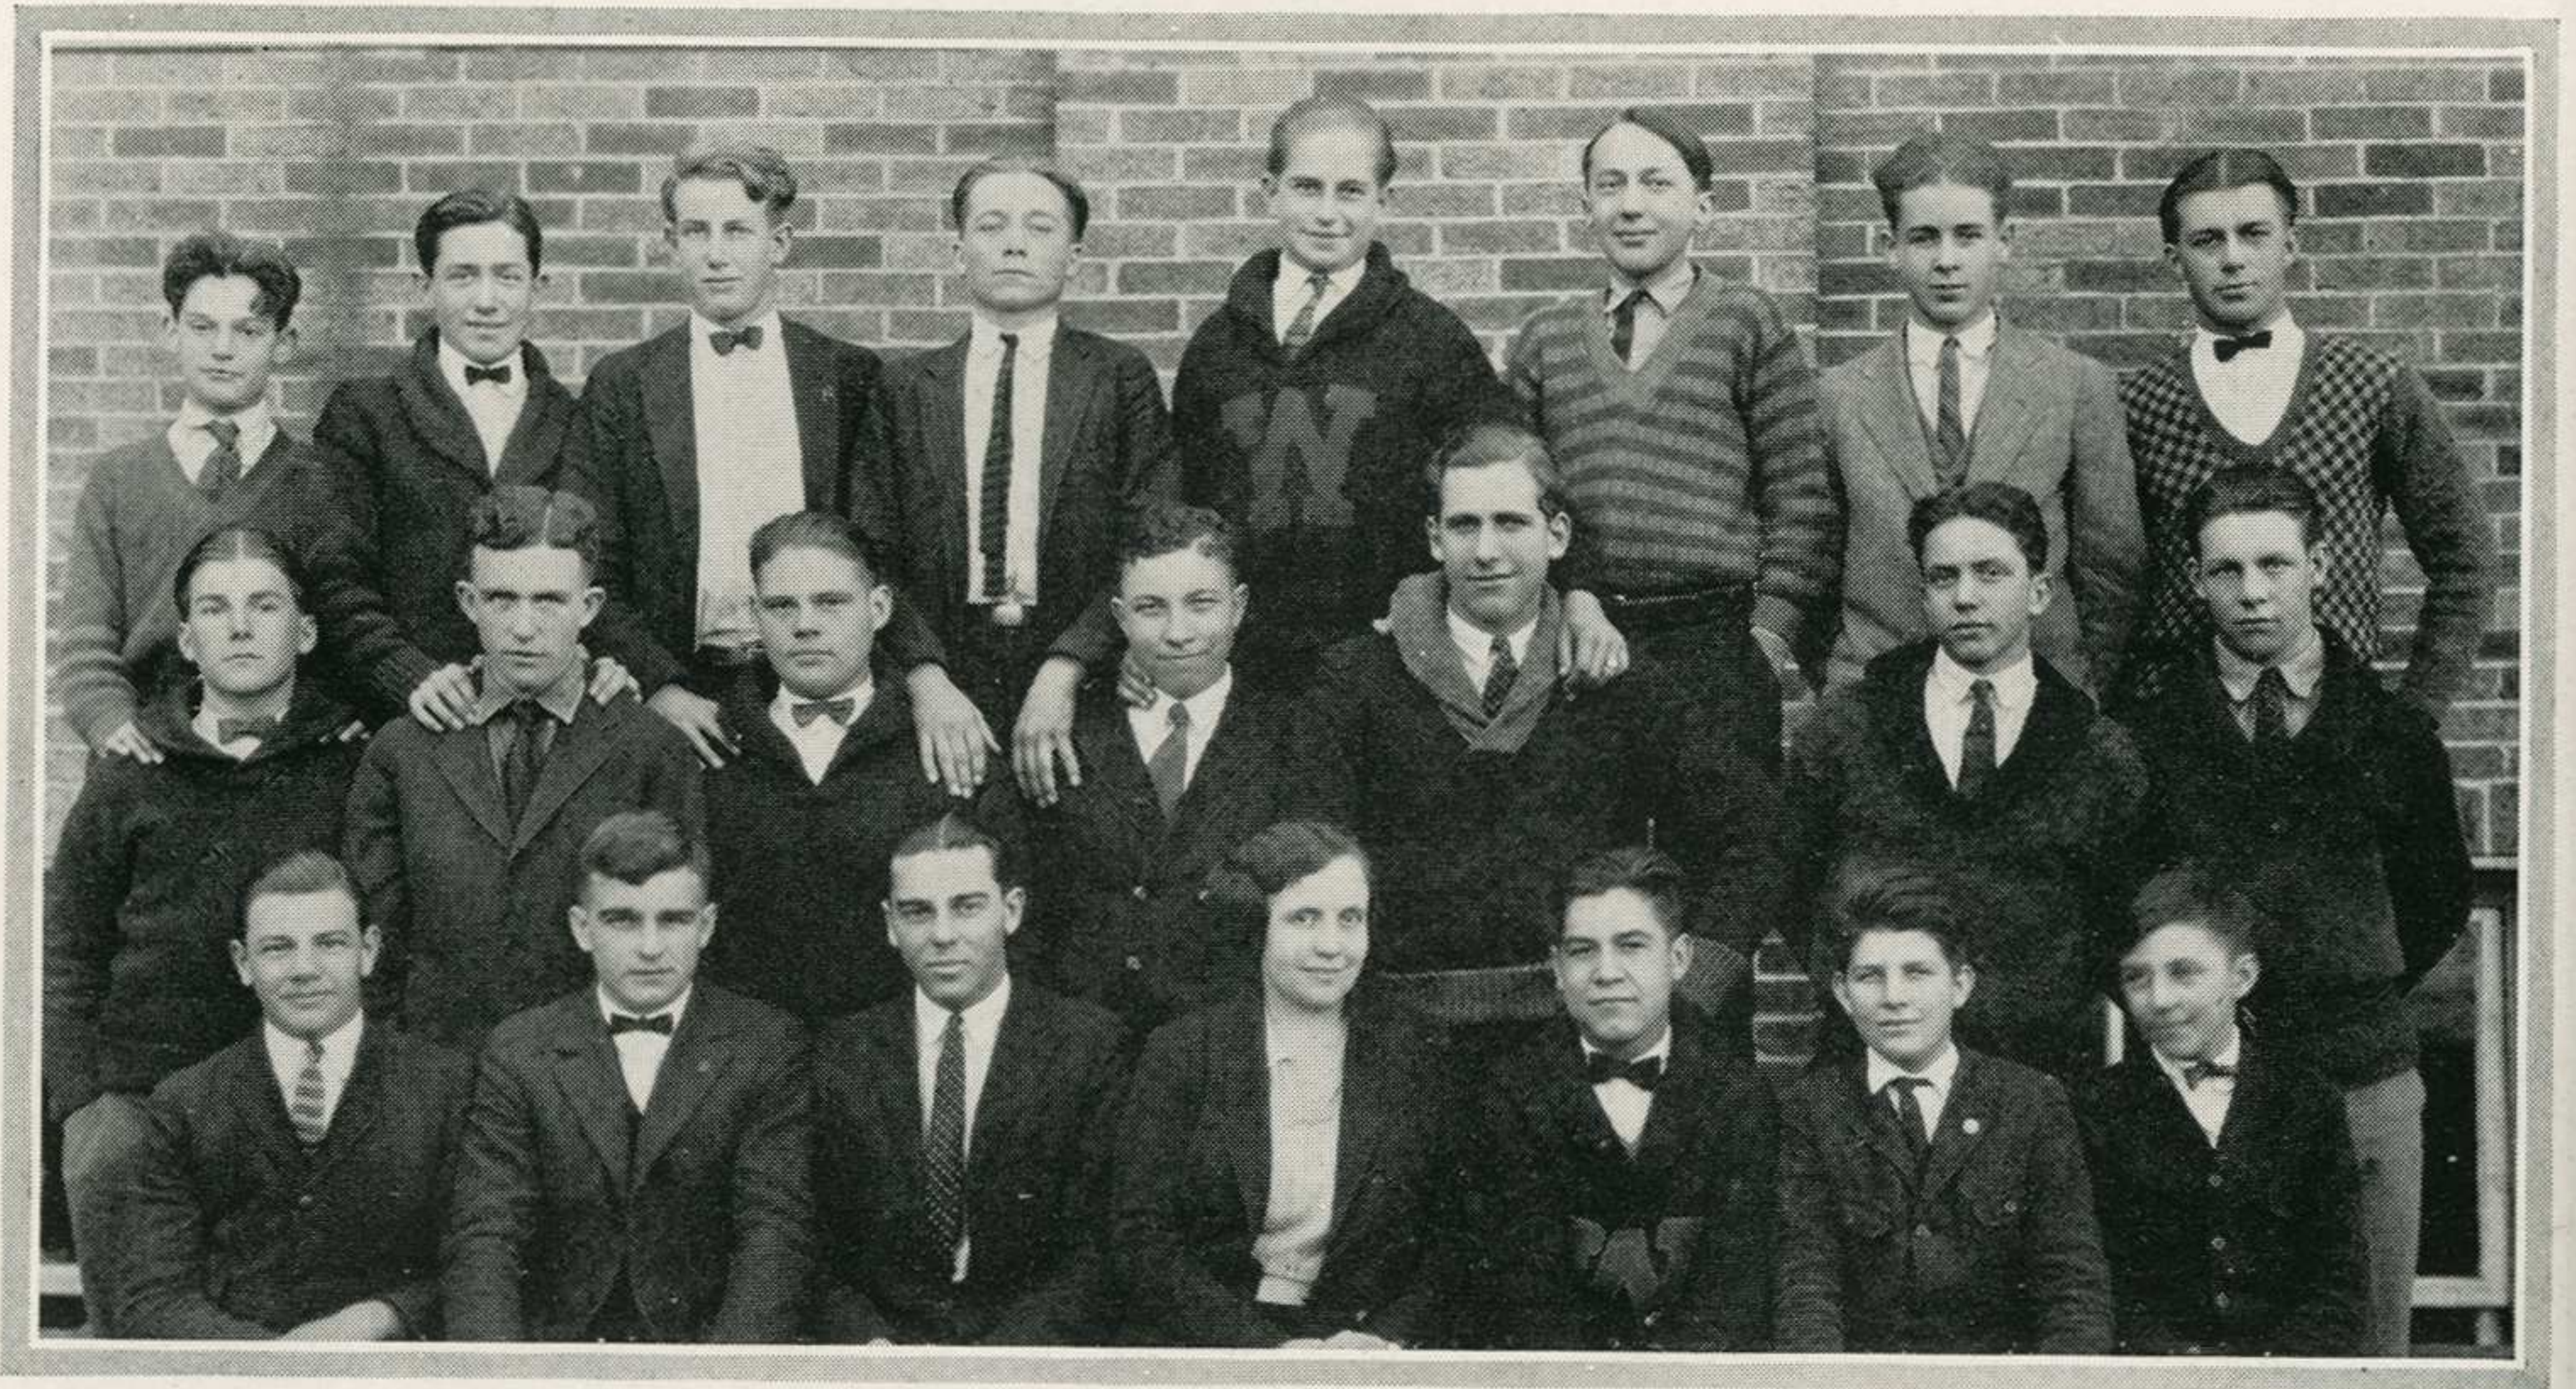

Band

Director—Mr. Hard

We are glad to see that the High School is sponsoring a band under the leadership of Mr. Aaron Hard. It has already played several places and we hope to see it continue.

Mrs. Tway has been very successful with the Glee Clubs this year. Their first appearance was on the program given for the benefit of the High School Band. The boys sang "Shandon Bells" and "Way Down Yonder in de Cornfield" and the girls sang "Land of Dreams" and "Lullaby."

The main event of the year came off most successfully April eighth and ninth—"In the Garden of the Shah." The three acts of the opera are supposed to take place in Persia, in the garden of Perunah, the Shah. Ted Harding and Billy Cummings, American mining engineers, accompanied by their colored body servant, Sam, came to Persia to work the Shah's gold mine.

Ted falls in love with Zohdah, the Shah's daughter, and Billy with Lohlah, Zondah's friend, while Nowobeh, Zohdah's old nurse pursues Sam, much to his discomfiture, thinking him her affinity in some other incarnation.

The Shah has other plans for Zohdah's future and returns with Somecraba, an Arab Sheik, whom he wishes Zohdah to marry.

As the story unfolds the Sheik turns out to be flying under false colors, having been compelled to abdicate his throne. The Shah finds this out in time and orders the Sheik away, at the same time throwing Ted, Billy and Sam in prison because of their continued attentions to Zohdah, Lohlah and Nowobeh.

Nowobeh makes the Shah see that by keeping the Americans in prison he is defeating his own plans in operating his rich gold mine, and so he is persuaded to give his consent to the weddings.

As Ted says, "All's well that ends well and you may soon expect invitations to a triple wedding in the Garden of the Shah."

The Cast of Characters is as Follows:

Lohlah—(Zohdah's Friend and Confidant).....	Mary E. McKitrick
Zohdah—(Daughter of the Shah).....	Lois Smith
Nowobeh—(Zohdah's old nurse).....	Otta Wilcox
Ted Harding, Billy Cummings—(American free-lance Mining Engineers)	Charles Cummins, Raymond Snouffer
Samuel Johnson Jackson—(Ted's and Billy's Servant).....	Jack Anderson
Perunah—(The Shah).....	Edward McCullough
Somecraba—(An Arab Sheik).....	Paul Insley

High School music has been much enjoyed by all this year. The chorus furnished some special music for Commencement including—"Love's Greeting" (Salut d'Amour) by Elgar and "Carmena" by Wilson.

Dramatics

The first attempt at dramatics of this year was a play, "A Lapse of Memory," given at the dinner-dance when the Seniors and Freshmen entertained the Juniors and Sophomores. This play, given by two Seniors, Lois Smith and Paul Insley, and a Freshman Margaret Dixon, was a one act comedy which furnished much entertainment for the evening.

"The Ghost Story" by Booth Tarkington, was given for the benefit of the High School Band. Robert Riggle, an alumnus of W. H. S. directed this play. The cast consisted of Lois Smith, Mary McKitrick, Mildred Keys, Ortha Smith, Jack Anderson, Edwin Colwell, Raymond Snouffer, Henry Scatterday, and Charles Wilson. This one act comedy opens with Anna waiting anxiously for George to come because she suspects that George will propose that evening. He expects to leave early in order to catch a train and so begins at once to attempt to win Anna. He stammers and fusses much over this and wastes much time until, Grace, Mary, Lennie, Tom, Fred, Floyd and Lynn interrupt by coming to visit Anna. George tells a ghost story to scare them away. Anna realizing this simply interested them more, pretends to go into hysterics, and so they all leave to let her quiet down. George slips back in to see how she is and finds her, much to his surprise, as well as ever. She then admits that she was simply pretending to get rid of them, and he is so elated that he once more attempts to propose before leaving for the train. Suddenly all the girls and boys, who had crept back in and lined up back of the davenport, jumped up and answered, "Yes, George," He said, "Anna they don't mean——?" and she demurely said, "Yes, George."

"The Garden of the Shah" given by the Glee Clubs, April 8 and 9, was directed by Mrs. Myrta Tway. This marked an epoch in the career of Dramatics as a very artistic production and clever piece of acting.

"The Man On The Box," given by the Senior class, was under the direction of Miss Lucile Robinson. The main theme of the play begins with Lieut. Worburton, brought up in court as a consequence of one of his practical jokes. Disguised as a liveryman, he in the mad rush after the dance got into the wrong carriage. The horses ran away and Worburton jumped out and caught who he thought was his sister, Nancy, but who turned out to be Miss Betty Annesley, the girl whom he swore he'd marry if he ever met her. She appeared in court, and suspecting his true identity, paid his fine and then hired him as her private groom, as her practical joke. She asked him to substitute for the butler at a Hunt Club dinner, and, many of his personal friends were present. After they left Betty and James (as was his assumed name) quarrelled, and, she discharged him. But, before he had a chance to leave, Count Karloff, her father's friend, threatened to ruin Col. Annesley, financially and socially, if he did not consent to Betty and his marriage. Worburton comes in just in time to use his physical force, and so saved them and gets rid of the Count. He then calls his friend Henderson and arranges to use his fortune for the benefit of Col. Annesley. Worburton admits his true identity to Betty, and she rewards him by promising to marry him.

Social

The Junior-Senior Banquet of '24 was a great success. We were complimented by the Seniors and the Faculty who told us it was the best ever given by the Juniors of Worthington High. The Banquet was held at the home of Ellen Potter, May eighth. The house was elaborately decorated in blue and white, the Senior class colors. The lights were transformed into white roses and myriads of blue and white streamers floated about them, producing altogether a very beautiful effect. While the refreshments were being served silver and blue balloons were thrown around the tables, adding much to our guests' fun. The entertainment for the evening consisted of a musical program, readings by Ada Williams, games, and after the banquet, dancing. The refreshments, most delicious and plentiful, were served by a few of the Juniors' Mothers, to whom we owe unlimited thanks for helping make our banquet a success.

The day following the banquet was spent in cleaning up the house, after which, we enjoyed a little picnic among ourselves in the basement of the Potter home, finishing the "left overs" of the night before.

Numerous dances have been given by the High School all during the year, each time a lively orchestra was hired which drew crowds of both High School and Alumni dancers and added much pleasure to the dancing. The dances were chaperoned either by our faculty or by well known residents of Worthington.

A dinner dance was given by the Seniors and Freshmen to the Juniors and Sophomores for their hard work in the ticket sale campaign. This campaign was an inter-class contest for the sale of football tickets, which resulted in a tie between the Juniors and Sophomores and left the Seniors and Freshmen, the losers, to finish the party. The evening was spent playing games and dancing after a short playlet was presented by several of our members.

The football boys of '24 were given a banquet at the Hotel Central by their fathers and the ministers of the town. The evening was acknowledged as a pleasant one.

The members of the Agriculture classes of W. H. S. entertained their fathers at the school building on Feb. 12. Talks were given by the boys pertaining to their work and some solo selections were furnished by members of the High School Orchestra. Refreshments were served by the Domestic Science Classes, under the supervision of Miss Martha Henderson. The supper was accompanied by music from the High School Orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Myrta Tway.

Thus ended the social season of '25 unequalled as to variety and extent of fun and never to be forgotten by any of the participants.

Mary E. McKitrick.

Alumni Bouquet

One is slow to bring up the subject of graduation dates beyond a few years back, especially those dates that belong to the years of graduation of some of the fairer sex.

Many of these older members are still in our midst, have reared and schooled more recent members of the Alumni and the mere mention of a very early date of graduation might cause one to tread upon a very sensitive spot in somebody's feelings and then again we cannot write each year of members who have been members but a few years, without feeling that we have not taken notice of accomplishments either material or otherwise of those who because of many demands, by the very serious things of life upon their time, have ceased to be active members of the Worthington High School Alumni.

It is with the foregoing thoughts in mind, that we shall try and recite some interesting comment about some of the older members of whom the Alumni Association is proud to boast, whose names we shall intersperse with those of members who have yet to grasp their share of laurels as they are bestowed.

JAMES F. WRIGHT '81—The "Hard"-est member for "Ware" we have with us, has contributed two members in recent years to our roster.

MRS. E. L. WOOD '85—has added to our membership in recent years by three.

MRS. E. M. McCULLOUGH '87—sends us a new member in the class of 1925.

MRS. W. T. VANLOON '90—still tries to appease the appetites of hungry mortals at the "Filling Station" north of the Post Office.

W. W. FULLER '95—whose love for nature has caused him to take up his abode in a "Bluebird" house, boasts of one member given to our association in the class of 1922.

MRS. EDWARD STRITMATTER '96—demonstrates the theory, that if you once get the Olentangy air in the blood you must come back to your old haunts.

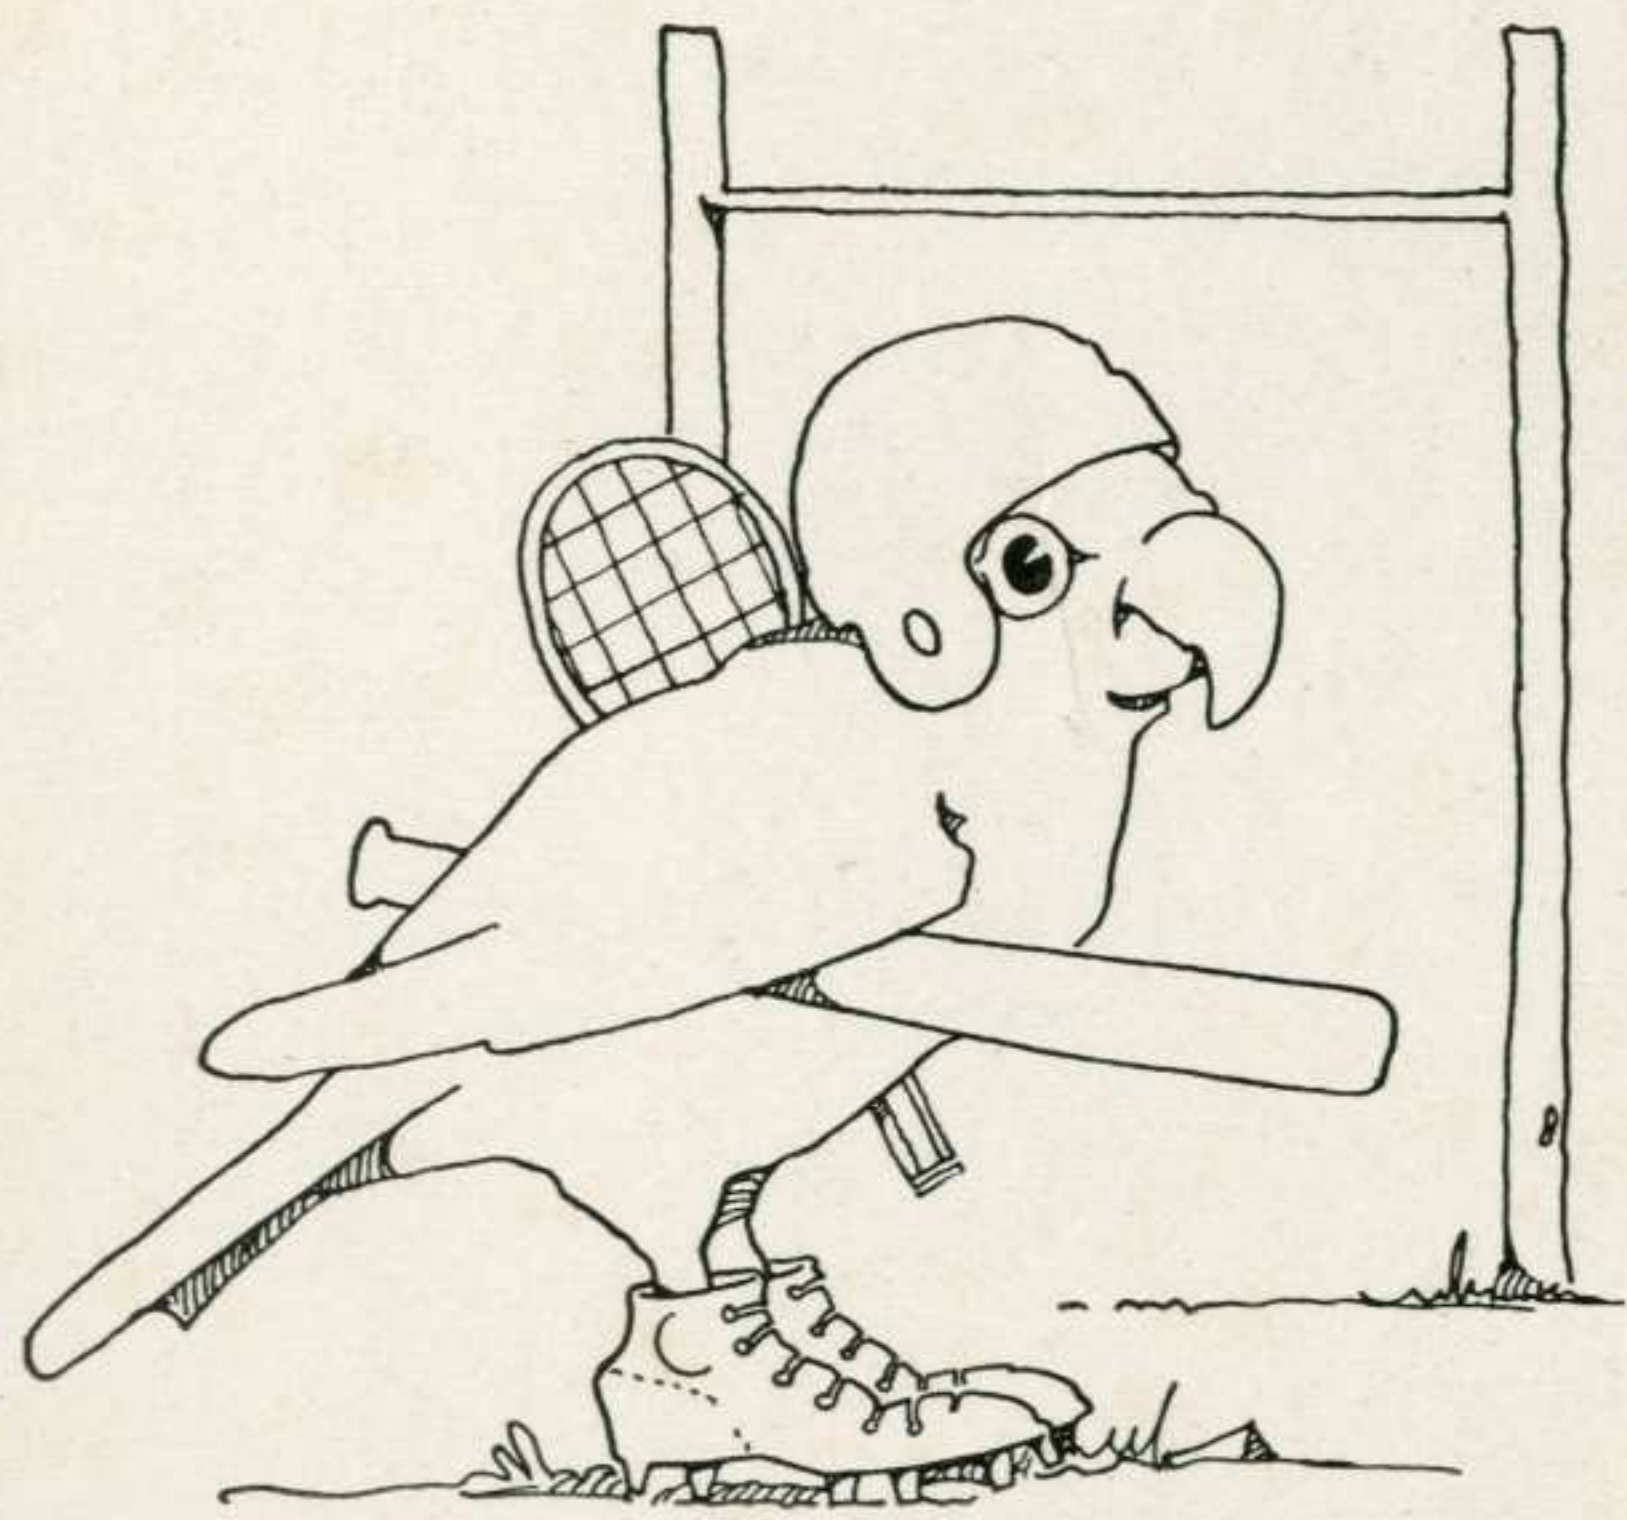

HARRY WILSON '01—'tis said pulls the wires in Worthington for a large corporation.

FRED SHARP '02—"Parcel-post."

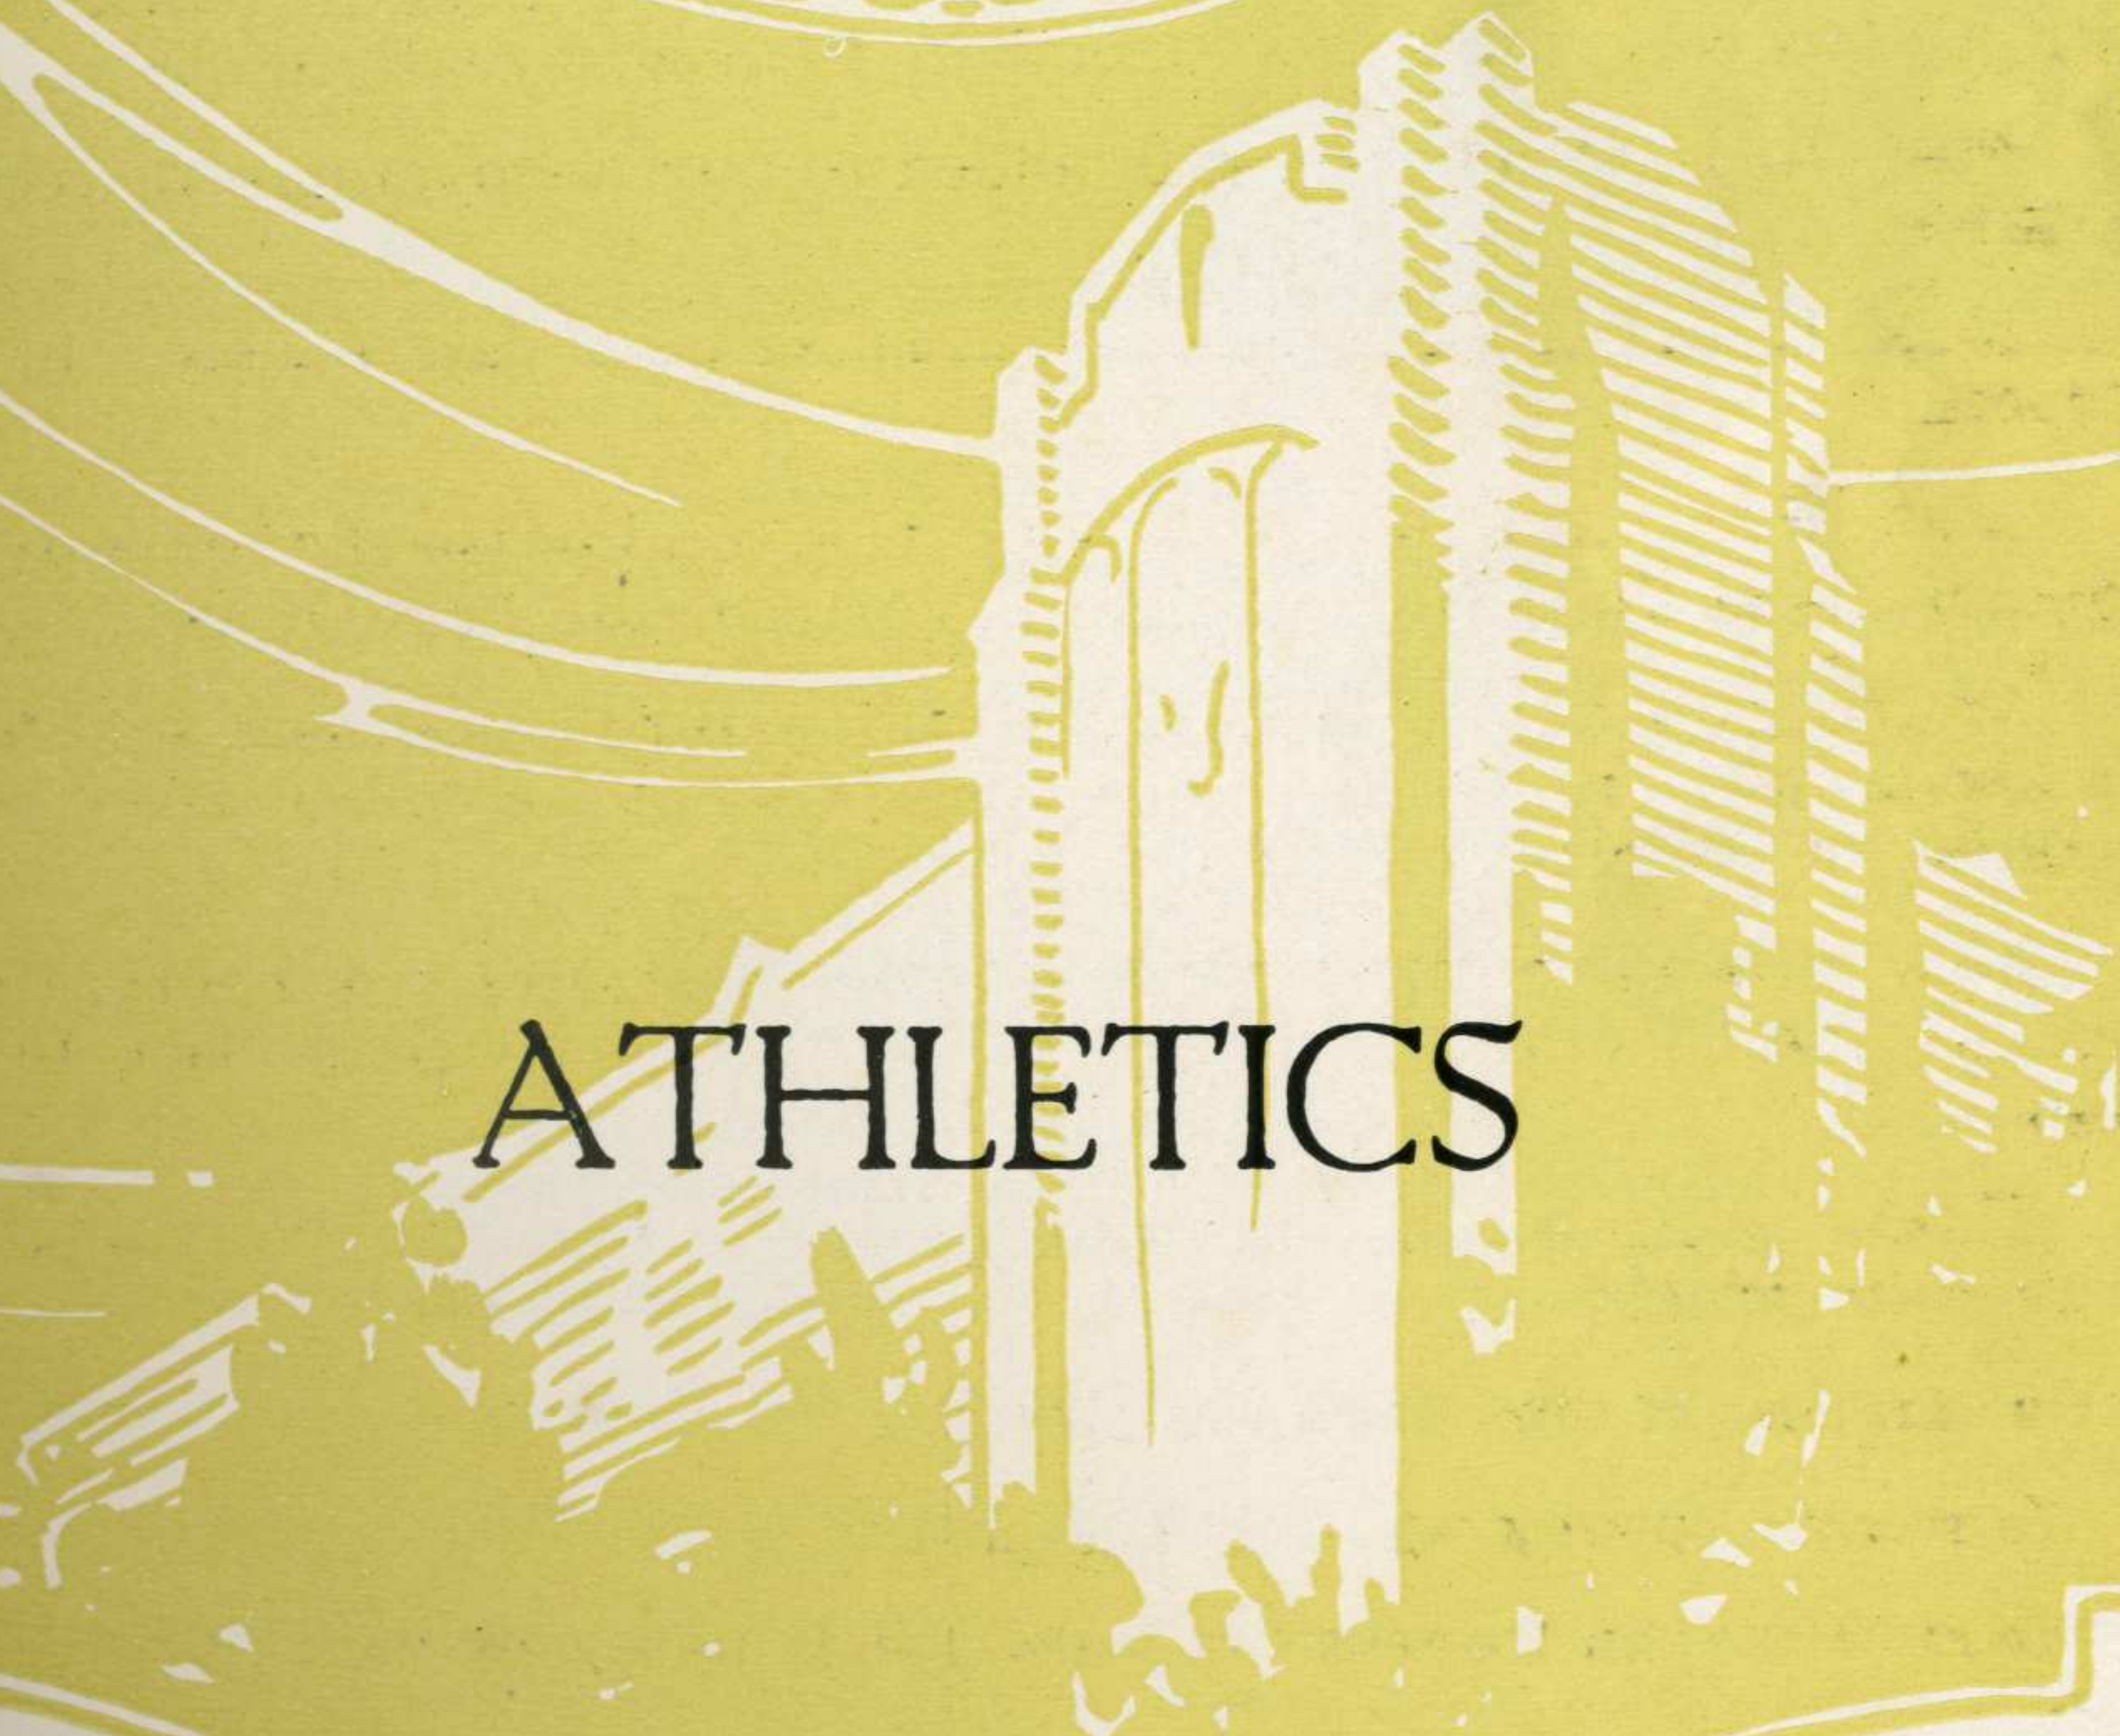

HOWARD POTTER '02—"Fence-post."

MRS. HOWARD POTTER '02—also sends us a new member in this year's class.

Never in the last five years has Worthington High School produced a football team like the one this year. The equipment was superior to any had thus far and the excellent team work was due to the coaching of Mr. Gerritt and Coach Rhoton.

The season opened with a bang October 3, with the Worthington boys winning from Ashley, 31 to 0.

The second victory came Oct. 10, when we defeated Gahanna High 20 to 0.

The scheduled game Oct. 17, with Canal Winchester, cancelled, we arranged a game with Doane Academy of Granville. They defeated us 13 to 12.

The next game found us back in the winning column when we defeated West Jefferson 13 to 0.

Our first out of town game was played at Pataskala on a muddy field, where we beat them 21 to 7.

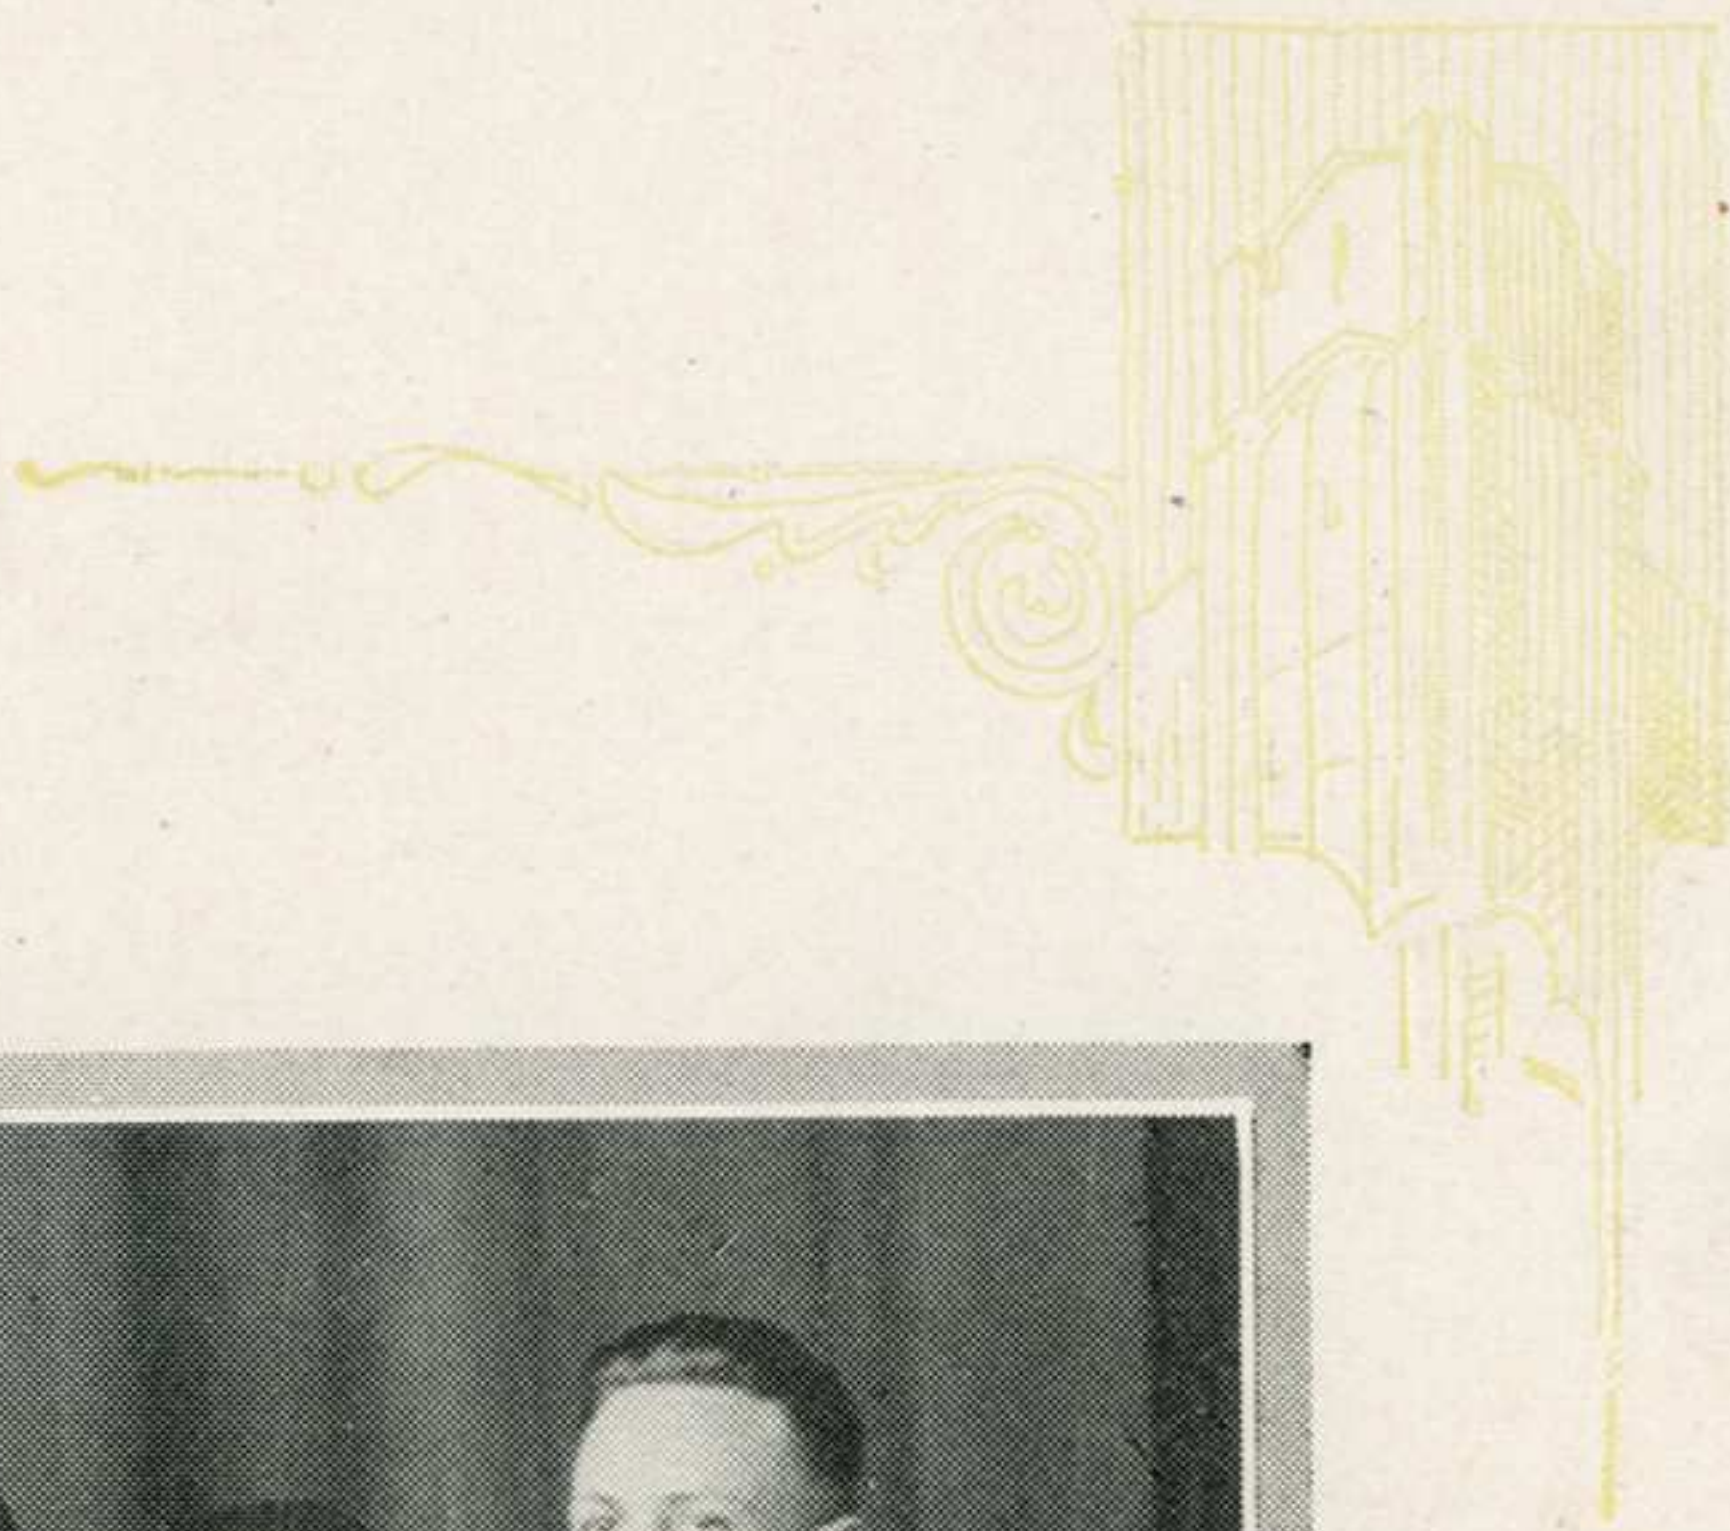

We received our first and only High School defeat, Nov. 7, when Groveport beat us 31 to 0.

We came back on the following game and won from Bexley 7 to 0.

As the last victory of the season we defeated West Jefferson for the second time. Score 7 to 0.

We lost the Thanksgiving game to the Alumni 13 to 0.

Boys' Basketball

The W. H. S. basketball team passed through another successful season, as usual, many exciting battles being lost and won. Although they were not so successful at winning games, as last season, they were more successful at playing scientific basketball.

The team this year was composed mostly of new material, only two veterans being in the line up. Even tho three members of the squad will be lost by graduation, the material left should prove valuable to Coach Rhoton next year.

R. Trees was our bat-off man. Cap't Snouffer, Anderson, Gabel and Henry held down the forward positions, while Potter and Wilson held down the guard post.

Girls' Basketball

As the basketball season drew to a close it marked the great success encountered by the girls team of W. H. S. They were even more successful than the boys, winning four games out of ten. Under the effective coaching of Coach Rhoton, the team played some splendid games showing clean sportmanship in every one. Next year's team should be as good if not better than this year's because most all of next year's team will be composed of veterans, only one member being lost by graduation.

Cap't Mildred Keys and Rhea Beard were our star forwards, Violet Coffman, Chloe Hall and Martha Schaeffer were centers, with Illa Dean and Millicent Williams playing guard positions. H. Griswold, R. Harding, E. Osburn, also played in many games alternating at different positions.

The girls entered the Franklin County Tournament but were defeated in their opening contest. Better luck next time.

Field Day

Track, tennis, and a tug-a-war constituted the program of the field day last spring.

Raymond Kuhns, senior, with five firsts, two seconds and a tie for first carried off most of the honors and won the gold medal. He scored a total of 39½ points. His closest rival was Fred Gabel, junior, who was credited with two firsts, one third and several fourth and fifth places. He scored 19 points and was awarded a sterling silver medal. Paul Hultz, freshman, won the bronze medal when he took third place with 17½ points.

The tug-a-war held between the juniors and seniors resulted in the juniors losing the decision by twenty-five feet of rope, altho the fourth year men failed to pull them in the river. Winners of events who failed to obtain any of the medals were awarded ribbons.

Baseball

Baseball has returned to W. H. S. after an absence of four years. It was impossible, with such a bunch of enthusiastic athletes as we have this year, to pass by the opportunity of forming a team of the national sport. The material that turned out for practice was very inexperienced, so a practice game was played between the Senior-Sophomores vs. the Junior-Freshmen in order that Coach Rhoton should have a chance to get a line on the material.

Henry, Goebbel, Shockcor, Trees and Gabel showed real baseball in working the battery while Tracy, Lashley, Ralph Snouffer, Ray Snouffer, Anderson and Willson showed excellent support in the field. The outfield men were Hack, Gilbert, J. Moore, E. Moore, and Mason.

With the best of this material lined up for the game the following week we defeated Dublin on our home field. The game was very close but it ended 10 to 11 in our favor.

With Mt. Sterling, Hillards and New Albany on our schedule, we are looking for a very successful season.

Inter-Class Tournament

Being eliminated in the first game at the county tournament and not getting to go to the district tournament at Delaware, we at once began plans for a class tournament after our regular schedule had been played. The Seniors drew the Juniors for their first game, and the Sophomores the Freshmen.

The Sophomore-Freshman game was played first. The Freshmen lead in the scoring up to the last quarter but the Sophomores nosed out ahead of them in the final score. Kenneth Chapin, playing for the Freshmen was the star during the entire game.

The Junior-Senior game was close and very hard fought, the Seniors leading up to the last half minute when Trees, a Junior, dropped in a perfect basket from the middle of the floor and made the game a tie. Two five minute over time periods had to be played before the Seniors could be defeated.

The final game, played between the Juniors and the Sophomores was one of the best of the season. The score was not so close but real knowledge of basketball was shown by both teams. The Juniors, who had three men from the first team and could not be held down by the Sophomores, won the tournament with an 18 to 15 score. Trees starring for them and Henry for the Sophomores.
